IDEAS IN ACTION

Triple Threat

You only need three things for a good evening of corporate entertainment: magic, martinis and Mario. Batali, that is. The Food Network star has partnered with mixology master Tony Abou-Ganim and entertainer Billy Harris to offer an event package that comes complete with entertainment, food and beverages. When guests arrive, they are greeted with cocktails handcrafted by Abou-Ganim; Harris then brings his comedy and magic to the stage; this is followed by Batali, an "Iron Chef America" favorite, giving a live cooking performance reminiscent of his performances on the popular show. And of course, the evening wouldn't be complete without a cookbook signing.
